Newport Beach-based the Saywitz Company recently named Joe Poncino as its senior vice president of construction. Poncino has been with The Saywitz Company since 2001. He has more than 40 years of experience in the construction industry.

“Joe has been an integral part of The Saywitz Company’s growth over the past decade and will continue to oversee and manage the company’s portfolio of properties, construction, renovations, construction management, and team of maintenance technicians,” said Barry Saywitz, president of The Saywitz Company. “His continued involvement will help shape the company’s growth and business plan moving forward.”
